For those who like a bit of the outdoors or a nice walk, the hotel is located right next to the Minnesota Valley Natural Wildlife Center. You can actually walk across the street and hit the trails. Take a look at http://www.gorp.com/gorp/resource/us_nwr/mn_minne.htm

And for a bit of history along with nature, Fort Snelling State Park is approximately 3 miles away. Take a look at http://www.dnr.state.mn.us/parks_and_recreation/state_parks/fort_snelling/index.html

September is early fall in Minnesota, as such the weather is a bit unpredictable, to say the least. A semi-warm jacket would be desirable, but bathing suit weather is also possible. What you can count on though, is a taste of what some the Minnesotan's call the second "state bird", the mosquito ☺
